

ASSIGNMENT

Reading Citations, Part 1

Trade bibliographies with your partner. During this exercise, you are not allowed to talk with each other! Your bibliography should be written well enough to do the job without your intervention. Give your partner this worksheet when you are finished.

1. Read the bibliography.
 - a. Next to each of the items cited, write down what kind of source you think it is. Use simple descriptors, like journal article, book, Web site, movie, and so on.
2. Try to access the items in the bibliography through our library. If they are print materials, you don't need to go to the stacks to find them, but do find out where they are located on the shelves.
 - a. Write "yes" next to the items you were able to locate.
 - b. Write "no" next to the items you weren't able to locate.
 - c. Write a question mark next to the items you had trouble locating or for which you weren't sure you found the right thing.
 - d. If you believe any of the items in the bibliography aren't available from our library, write NA (for "not available") next to them.
3. Write any questions you had for the author of the bibliography here:
